

You folks better check out the fiasco created on the low frequencies in Mannheim Germany with the installation of BPL in that city! You people are too concerned with pleasing the lobbyists from the power companies and not the Ham Radio Family who has provided Public Service Communications for years! Sometimes you wonder can the FCC do anything right ?????